

THE CARNEGIE SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

Welcome back to Term 3 and welcome to new students and families. It is my great pleasure to welcome back Malia after a term overseas and I am pleased to announce Malia has accepted the position of Deputy Principal.

The term promises to be an exciting one with the senior group going to Kokoda and the junior group completing a challenge week at Aireys Inlet later in the term.

All students will be coming home with homework books next week. The purpose of these is to complete three sessions per week and get into the habit of completing homework. Parents may choose to keep the homework book themselves to monitor the progress or you may allow you child to self monitor. Either way the book is due back every second Friday.

Our theme for this term is South East Asia. The senior group will be studying Vietnam and the junior group will be studying Cambodia.

First semester reports will be mailed home in week three this term. We look forward to a great term and as always, thank you for your ongoing support.

Uniform

Just a reminder that uniform is to be worn every Wednesday.

Lateness

Students who are late will be asked to stay back after school to make up the time. Classes start at 9 o'clock.

Library

Students will be joining Kew library to make study and books more accessible for them.

Food

It is clear from some of the behaviour after lunch that some students are eating a high sugar based diet. This should be avoided wherever possible.

Kokoda

Senior students continue on their Kokoda training in preparation for their trip in September.

Andrew Medland

Returning from the balmy summer and the beautiful architecture of Europe, I'm excited with a term of many sure to be highlights ahead. The early morning training is toning up all the Kakoda participants and there are plenty of laughs along the way. Heading off to snow camp in early August with gloves, beanies and plenty of spills in mind will certainly get the start of the term off to a flying start and leave the students and staff craving the excitement of another camp soon. I'm looking forward to another challenging and unequally more rewarding term.
